Tata Steel workers in UK call strike over job cuts

London, June 21 (IANS): Around 1,500 Tata Steel workers in Port Talbot and Llanwern in Wales will go on an "all-out indefinite strike action" from July 8 to protest the company's plans to cut 2,800 jobs and close its blast furnaces.

Unite the Union said it is the first time in over 40 years that steelworkers in the UK have taken a strike action aimed at severely impacting Tata Steel UK's operations.

The so-called "escalation" in industrial action comes after members of Unite began working to rule out an overtime ban earlier this week. "Around 1,500 Tata workers based in Port Talbot and Llanwern will begin all-out indefinite strike action over the company's plans to cut 2,800 jobs and close its blast furnaces," Unite the Union said in a press release.

"Tata's workers are not just fighting for their jobs - they are fighting for the future of their communities and the future of steel in Wales," said Unite general secretary Sharon Graham.

"The strikes will go on until Tata halts its disastrous plans. Unite is backing Tata's workers to the hilt in their historic battle to save the Welsh steel industry and give it the bright future it deserves," she said.

The union claimed the Opposition Labour Party has called for the Mumbai-headquartered steel major to halt its plans and wait until after the July 4 general election to engage in talks with a newly elected government.

It follows Tata Steel's decision in April to proceed with the closure of two old blast furnaces as part of a GBP 1.25-billion investment to transition to a state-of-the-art Electric Arc Furnace at its Port Talbot steelworks in Wales.

Tata Steel said it was "naturally disappointed" with the move and had been calling on the union to suspend the industrial action. Since the plan was announced earlier this year, the company said it has held seven months of formal and informal discussions with the UK trade unions about the major transformation which preserves 5,000 jobs and secures future steel supplies.

Rath Yatra preparations underway in Seraikela: Dev Snan Purnima today

Mail News Service

Seraikela, June 21: The Jagannath Seva Samiti Seraikela is gearing up for the traditional Rath Yatra, marking the auspicious occasion of Dev Snan Purnima today. This ritual, deeply rooted in tradition, signifies the commencement of festivities leading up to the annual Jagannath Rath Yatra, following the Jagannath Dham Puri traditions. The history of the Rath Yatra in Seraikela spans nearly two and a half centuries, inaugurated with the construction of Mahaprabhu Shri Jagannath's chariot on the holy Akshaya Tritiya. According to the Utkaliya Jagannath tradition, religious ceremonies for the Rath Yatra will commence on Saturday with the observance of Dev Snan Purnima. The Jagannath Seva Samiti Seraikela has made elaborate arrangements for the occasion. Chief priest Pandit Brahmanand Mahapatra will lead the bathing ceremony of Mahaprabhu Shri Jagannath, elder brother Balabhadra, and sister Subhadra with water from 1001 holy urns. This sacred ritual, accompanied by Vedic chants, will take place in the courtyard of the ancient Jagannath Shri Mandir Seraikela starting at 8:00 AM. Following this, a Bhajan Sandhya program featuring local artists will commence at 7:00 PM, culminating with the distribution of Mahaprasad among devotees. Raja Singhdev, President of Jagannath Seva Samiti Seraikela, highlighted the significance of Dev Snan Purnima in the agricultural calendar, marking the onset of the monsoon season. Pandit Brahmanand Mahapatra emphasized that this year's Rath Yatra holds special importance according to the Panchang Dasha, outlining the upcoming religious rituals. Mahaprabhu's arrival: A supernatural legacy

Seraikela, June 21: The tradition of venerating Mahaprabhu Shri Jagannath in Seraikela spans approximately two and a half centuries, dating back to a remarkable tale of divine providence. According to local lore, Pandit Jalandhar Mohapatra, a priest from Dhenkanal in Orissa, discovered Mahaprabhu's wooden idol floating in a river while bathing. Moved by this celestial encounter, Pandit Jalandhar brought the idol home, adorned it, and began worshiping it with reverence. Eventually, Pandit Jalandhar Mohapatra journeyed to the then Seraikela State, where he installed Mahaprabhu's idol in a thatched house and continued his devoted worship. Legend has it that Maharaj Abhiram Singh of Seraikela State, while preparing for battle, heard a bell ringing from the humble abode where Mahaprabhu resided. Seeking divine intervention, Maharaj Abhiram visited the hut and sought blessings for victory, which he attained upon his triumphant return from war. In gratitude, Maharaj Abhiram Singh relocated Mahaprabhu and Pandit Jalandhar to the banks of the Kharkai river, granting them land. Subsequently, under the skilled direction of renowned sculptor Chandramohan Mohapatra, the majestic Jagannath Shri Temple was constructed, blending architectural influences from Bankura in West Bengal and Odisha using the terracotta method. This temple stands today as a testament to cultural synthesis and spiritual devotion. Presently, the temple's tenth-generation priest, Pandit Brahmanand Mohapatra, faithfully upholds the sacred rituals of morning worship, offering of food, and evening aarti. The cultural patronage, including the worship of Mahaprabhu, remains under the ex-officio patronage of the king of Seraikela. Additionally, since 2007, the Jagannath Seva Samiti has diligently preserved and perpetuated the temple's traditions. (w/nkm)

Following this ritual, adorned in new attire, Mahaprabhu will be seated alongside elder brother Balabhadra and sister Subhadra on the throne of Shri Mandir. Devotees will offer worship upon witnessing the divine presence of Mahaprabhu in his youthful form. As part of the tradition, Mahaprabhu will consume sour mango vegetable, kheer, and khichdi after Dev Snan. Subsequently, he will experience a 15-day period of illness with fever. During this time, Mahaprabhu will reside in the Annasar Griha within Shri Mandir for recuperation, and only temple priests will attend to him. Devotees will be unable to have darshan of Mahaprabhu during this recovery period. Mahaprabhu's treatment will include Panchamul medicine for the initial 5 days, followed by Dashamul medicine for the subsequent 10 days. List of 178 uncompensated 1984 victims submitted to advocate Upadhyay

Jamshedpur, , June 21:: In a significant development in the ongoing battle for justice for the victims of the 1984 riots, Satnam Singh Gambhir, the Eastern India President of the All India Sikh Students Federation, has reaffirmed his commitment to ensuring compensation for all affected families. Today, Gambhir, along with Inderjit Singh Dimple, an advocate for the victims from Daltonganj, handed over a comprehensive list of 178 victims to Advocate Diwakar Upadhyay.

The Jharkhand High Court had previously directed Gambhir, through his legal representative Advocate Upadhyay, to provide detailed information on the number of victims who have not yet received compensation, categorized district-wise. Following this directive, Gambhir undertook a painstaking journey across various districts in Jharkhand, personally meeting with victim families and compiling their information. "Justice delayed is justice denied," Gambhir remarked solemnly. "We will try our best to get justice for the victims of 1984. It is our duty to ensure that not a single victim's family remains without the compensation they deserve."

The list handed over to Advocate Upadhyay today is a result of months of dedicated work and is a critical step towards achieving justice for the riot victims. Upadhyay, who is representing these families in court, has been urged by Gambhir to vigorously present their case in the Jharkhand High Court. He has been a relentless advocate for the victims, regularly visiting Jharkhand to push for their rights.

His efforts highlight the painful reality that many families still face, 40 years after the tragic events of 1984. "It is very painful to see that justice has not been served even after four decades," he said. "Our struggle will continue until the last victim's family receives their rightful compensation." The event was also attended by social worker Rupesh Sharma, who has been a steadfast supporter of the victims' cause. The presence of committed individuals like Sharma underscores the broad-based support for this long-overdue justice movement. As the legal battle progresses, the victims and their advocates remain hopeful that the court will heed their pleas and deliver a verdict that ensures justice and reparation for all affected families. Satnam Singh Gambhir's unwavering dedication serves as a beacon of hope for those who have suffered for far too long. (w/pb)

Gaining the trust of the tribals not easy for Himanta and Shivraj

Mail News Service

Jamshedpur, June 21: In the BJP high command, the responsibility for the Assembly elections to be held in Jharkhand has been entrusted to Union Minister Shivraj Singh Chauhan and Assam Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma. The leadership has indicated that it will not be easy for the current organizational structure to sail through the Assembly elections smoothly. It will not be surprising if the current state in-charge Laxmikant Vajpayee retires in the coming days. The BJP high command also indicated that other big decisions may be taken in the coming days. But it will not be so easy for Shivraj and Himanta to take the party to victory in just four months and form a government in the state.The party just lost all five tribal reserved seats in the Lok Sabha elections. There are a total of 28 seats reserved for tribals in Jharkhand in the Assembly. In the last Assembly elections, the party had to face defeat on 26 seats. It will be a big challenge for these two election in-charges to not only win the trust of the tribals but also to winmore seats. It will be no less a difficult task to convince non-tribal voters in their favour. In the Lok Sabha elections, out of 14 seats in the state, BJP got 8 and AJSU got 1, and NDA got nine seats. Even then, there was silence from the party.

A period of mutual conflict continues in the organization. Former MP from Khunti and former Lok Sabha Deputy Speaker Karia Munda has written a strong letter to the BJP leadership for the party's defeat in Khunti and other tribal seats.He has urged the high command to introspect. Sita Soren, who left JMM and joined BJP, created a sensation by blaming big leaders of the party (Babulal Marandi, Lewis Marandi, Randhir Singh) for her defeat from the Dumka Lok Sabha seat. The fight between the supporters of Godda MP Nishikant Dubey and Dalit MLA Narayan Das exposed the party and the organization. The state leadership has maintained silence on this. It will not be easy for the newly nominated election in-charges to overcome this and then unite the party and the organization. Regaining the tribal credibility will be a litmus test for President Babulal Marandi. No one is doubting the efficiency of Shivraj Singh Chauhan and HimantaBiswaSarma. The central leadership has handed over the command of Jharkhand to them. However, the political situations of Jharkhand are completely different from those of Madhya Pradesh and Assam.

It will not be easy to take the tribal community into confidence as water, forest, and land are important issues in Jharkhand. The tribal society has a different viewpoint from the BJP. The demand for Sarna Dharma Code is a matter of life and death for the tribals of Jharkhand. BJP and the Center have remained silenton this issue. The tribals of Jharkhand are protesting against the UCC law. They are calling it a conspiracy to destroy tribal tradition and culture.

Tribals are angry over the removal of other columns from the census form. The tribal people are angry due to the abolition of the power of Gram Sabha from the Forest Rights Act and Forest Conservation Act. After Hemant Soren, the only tribal CM of the country, went to jail, the tribal society considered it as a conspiracy by the BJP. Kurmi community holds the policies of BJP and former Union Minister Arjun Munda responsible for not including them in the ST list. (w/rd)

Indian CEOs prioritise tech investments, including towards AI: report

New Delhi, June 21 (IANS) Indian CEOs are prioritising technology investment, including artificial intelligence (AI) but stay guarded amid data security challenges, according to a report.

Around 70 per cent of CEOs are channeling investments into technology, including AI, to catalyse growth and enhance productivity over the next 12 months, which is much higher than their global counterpart at 47 per cent, according to the 'EY CEO Outlook Pulse Survey'.

However, fortifying data management and cybersecurity (56 per cent) and pursuing cost optimisation across business facets (50 per cent) also stand out as critical strategic imperatives in the near term.

Moreover, the acquisition of technology, new production capabilities, or innovative startups (44 per cent) emerges as the leading strategic driver for mergers and acquisitions (M&A) activities, said the report.

"Commitment to tech investments is not just a response to the present but a strategic leap towards the future. The survey underscores this momentum, revealing that a substantial majority of CEOs are actively aligning their organisations with an AI-centric blueprint for innovation and productivity," said Mahesh Makhija, EY India Technology Consulting Leader.

Despite a majority of CEOs acknowledging the growing importance of sustainability compared to a year ago, there is a trend of sustainability slipping down the priority list for almost 16 per cent of CEOs, overshadowed by financial constraints and a shift in boardroom focus.

To bolster the sustainability agenda, corporate India advocates for technology incentives, including AI, as well as subsidies and tax breaks for green technology investments, coupled with governmental backing of sustainable infrastructure projects.

Ensuring NEET-UG integrity: Call for strict punishments

The Supreme Court's recent actions regarding the NEET-UG 2024 highlight the urgent need to address widespread malpractice and ensure fairness in one of India's most significant exams. By issuing a notice to the Center and the National Testing Agency (NTA) and staying ongoing High Court proceedings, the Court aims to centralize and streamline the resolution of these critical issues. This includes addressing the grievances of students in Meghalaya who lost 45 minutes during the exam, potentially allowing them to be part of the 1,563 students eligible for grace marks or a re-exam on June 23. The next hearing is scheduled for July 8.

During these proceedings, the Supreme Court underscored the necessity for stringent action against any form of negligence in conducting the NEET-UG examination. A vacation bench comprising Justices Vikram Nath and SVN Bhatti emphasized that even the slightest negligence should be thoroughly addressed, stressing that these matters should not be treated as adversarial litigation but as essential steps to uphold the examination's integrity. This perspective is crucial. Those involved in misconduct must face severe consequences to ensure that fraudulent practices are fully exposed and eradicated.

Investigations have revealed alarming patterns of malpractice. An English newspaper reported that around 41 papers have been leaked over the last five years, with NEET being the most significant, involving approximately 2.4 million candidates. On the day of the examination, a Patna police officer's FIR detailed tampering with the question paper, leading to the recovery of four fake identity cards and the arrest of individuals, including the owner of a coaching institute in Gujarat. Additionally, wrongful allocation of up to 140 grace marks to some students has exacerbated the issue. For instance, a girl's result card from Gujarat showing 705 marks in NEET despite failing her board exam, and the suspiciously high scores of eight students from the Jhajjar center in Haryana, necessitate thorough investigations, especially given past scandals like the AIPMT 2015 paper leak. The NTA's initial allocation of grace marks led to 67 students securing top positions, but after a Supreme Court decision, this number dropped to 61. Even excluding grace marks in Physics, the high number of perfect scores remains concerning. Consequently, despite achieving top ranks, some students may not secure admission to premier institutions like AIIMS, indicating deeper systemic issues.

To restore trust in the examination process, decisive and transparent resolutions are imperative. A comprehensive investigation should be conducted, and those found guilty of malpractice must face stringent penalties to deter future violations. This approach is essential not only to protect the integrity of NEET-UG but also to ensure that aspiring doctors receive a fair and just opportunity to succeed. By taking these steps, we can safeguard the future of our medical professionals and the credibility of our educational institutions..

What has further added to their joy is the fact that Priyanka Gandhi Vadra will now be contesting the Wayanad seat.

"The situation now is doubly advantageous for us. Rahul Gandhi choosing to retain Raebareli will mean his increased presence and involvement in party affairs here. Besides, with Priyanka going to Wayanad, her coterie will also follow her there and Uttar Pradesh will be free from their clutches," said a veteran Congress leader who had been expelled from the party by former UPCC chief Ajay Kumar Lallu when Priyanka was in charge of Uttar Pradesh.

The leader, who did not wish to be named, said that maximum damage to the Congress in Uttar Pradesh was caused by Priyanka's team.

"Her coterie misbehaved with senior leaders, sold tickets for a price and did not allow anyone to meet Priyanka who, in any case, was not willing to listen to complaints against her team. It was the misbehaviour by her team that led to a massive exodus from the party. Leaders like JitinPrasada, R P N Singh, LaliteshpatiTripathi and dozens of others left the Congress," said another senior party leader.

He further said that those, who did not move to greener pastures, receded into their shells and stopped even coming to the UPCC office.

A senior leader said to be close to Rahul Gandhi said that the latter was keen to bring back party veterans into the political mainstream on one hand, and on the other, he wanted to include young blood in the Congress.

Party strategists also feel that Rahul's presence in UP will further strengthen the alliance with Samajwadi Party.

"The outcome of the 2024 LokSabha elections in Uttar Pradesh has indicated that the Congress-Samajwadi Party alliance's votes and conversion of seats increased after Rahul Gandhi and AkhileshYadav decided to contest 2024 polls from Kannauj and Rae Bareli seats respectively. Moreover, their relationship was marked by camaraderie and this percolated down to the cadres who worked together in the polls. With Rahul here, there will be no room for middlemen to create confusion between the two alliance members," said a senior leader.

Senior party leaders have called this the right move and say this was an indication towards the party's continuing increased focus on Uttar Pradesh. The party has already given indications that its alliance with the SP will continue.

The Congress, which contested 17 of the 80 LokSabha seats in Uttar Pradesh in alliance with the Samajwadi Party and won six seats, has been looking for a push for a turnaround and the 2024 poll results appear to have provided the desired opportunity. The Samajwadi Party won 37 seats, compared to the five seats it had won in 2019.

Rahul Gandhi and Akhileshfocussed on issues like the caste census, the move to change the Constitution, rising unemployment and scrapping of the Agnivir scheme etc. This worked effectively in the state.

Rahul Gandhi has given indications that he will continue to focus on such issues.

A Samajwadi Party leader said that the alliance would work on the ground if the two leaders -- Rahul and Akhilesh -- keep their channels of communication open.

"There will be trouble if they allow second-rung leaders to start negotiations but with Rahul now staying here, this will be unlikely," he said.

When a World Bank consultant and an investment banker become 'The Big Forkers'

By Sourish Bhattacharyya

A lot of people like to eat, but Shashank 'Shanky' Jayakumar and Sid Mewara, who are more famous as The Big Forkers (sorry, they are not exactly politically correct!), have travelled the world, talking all the way, for their love of food.

Sid, a Florida chef-turned-Wharton-trained-investment-banker living in Goa, was in Italy some years ago, getting hard-nosed over a business deal, when he received a call from Shanky, his first cousin (their parents are brother and sister), who's also a techpreneur and World Bank consultant, asking for his opinion on where to have the best paella in Spain.

Sid not only had the answer, but also got so excited about his cousin getting to have the best paella in Spain, that he flew off to Valencia to join Shanky and partake of the treat. They then joined a group of friends who were travelling in the footsteps of chef, television star and best-selling author Anthony Bourdain to discover the culinary secrets of Southern Spain.

During the trip, seeing the lengths they were prepared to go to have the best Paella, one of their mates, who's a social media influencer, suggested that Sid and Shanky should launch their own YouTube channel so that they could keep travelling for food and talking about it, and perhaps, also make some money out of their work.

Shanky may have travelled, eaten well and developed a personality that reflects his passion for all things edible, but he had no media experience. And the closest that Sid ever came to becoming famous was to dash off an email on Yahoo! to Discovery Channel pitching for a programme. That was 23 years ago -- and Discovery did not bother to reply.

But they were confident they could talk non-stop, and Shanky, being a techie based out of Mumbai, knew enough people who could do a decent job producing YouTube videos. Covid and the lockdowns intervened, forcing them to can their plan, but they used the time to seed the idea of 'The Big Forkers', a YouTube channel that makes an immediate impression for its superior production values, conversational format and creative use of graphics to convey information that channel hosts tend to meander with (often exposing their rather limited knowledge of the language of food).

On their channel, as the irreverent and voluble Sid and Shanky travel from the Shetty bars of Mumbai to Singapore, where they find out what real Chilli Chicken looks and tastes like, and to the barbecue haunts of 'brisket country' Austin, North Texas, they also make sure they do not miss the laphing at Humayunpur in New Delhi or the 'holige' at Nalapakkas in Bengaluru.

In between, they take viewers on food journeys that definitely leave them salivating, but if Sid and Shanky find Natraj's 'alootikki' to be underwhelming, they won't hold back their punches and try to be polite. They don't overload the episodes with 'gyan', leaving that job to graphics that have a street art feel to them.

Not that their viewers are allergic to knowledge. We stumbled upon one who explained why the word 'habashi' in the name of the popular halwa selling near Delhi's Jama Masjid isn't a pejorative reference to its dark colour because of the caramelised sugar, but points to its possible origin in Ethiopia (Al Habash), a country with which India has had old ties. Their most recent season has brought them to Delhi, where they travel from the bylanes of ChandniChowk, sampling the chaats and Jung Bahadur'skachoris, to the Jama Masjid neighbourhood populated by such legends as Kallu (nihari), Aslam (butter chicken), Haji KallanBawarchi (dal gosht), and of course, Karim's and Al Jawahar.

And then they go to Delhi's North-East hub, Humayunpur, where they take us to on delicious journey across Yo Tibet, Lha Kitchen, Ao Assam and Hornbill -- restaurants that stand out for pork with laalshaak, duck curry and meat laphing, apart from the more predictable momos and thukpas.

It is not just their passion for food, and the unscripted nature of their channel, but their head for business that also makes Shanky and Sid stand apart. As Sid put it, most people driving Indian YouTube channels aren't able to monetise their work even if they have a massive reach because vast audiences don't necessarily translate into significant 'wallet power'.

What they have successfully shown to their partners, notably alcohol brands, is that they may have a subscriber base that can be measured in tens of thousands, but they are all people with wallet power, with whom they engage through events and the Forkers Dining Club, a celebratory WhatsApp group, where members from across the country share information about food and also their meal experiences.

Shanky and Sid now plan to set up a media company to advise people like them, who have a passion for food and knowledge to share, about how to maximise returns from their YouTube channels. They wish to put their knowledge of business to good use not just for themselves.

Will their head for business get to bond with what their heart dictates? If they are able to seal the marriage between heart and head, they may just end the eternal existential dilemma of food YouTubers, who are forever torn between extravagant love and elusive money.

Mizoram agrees to record biometric details of 34,000 Myanmar refugees, awaits MHA directions

The Mizoram government has agreed to record biometric details of around 34,000 Myanmar refugees sheltered in the northeastern state for over three years, but is waiting for the necessary instructions from the Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA), officials said in Aizawl on Wednesday.

A senior Mizoram Home Department official said that a new biometric enrollment portal has already been prepared by the department but the process would start after getting the detailed directions from the MHA.

Mizoram Chief Minister Lalduhoma recently said that the state government in principle decided to record biometric details of the Myanmar refugees and a portal was ready for collecting this data.

After the military junta seized power in Myanmar on February 1, 2021, around 34,000 people including women, elderly people and children, from the neighbouring country took shelter in 11 districts of Mizoram. At least 10,550 Myanmarese are staying in 111 relief camps in six districts while 9,300 others live in relatives or friends' houses as well as in rented accommodation, a Home Department official told IANS.

Similarly, at least 8,000 Myanmarese have taken shelter in neighbouring Manipur's Tengnoupal, Chandel, Churachandpur, and Kamjong districts and the state government has already recorded the biometric details of the majority of the refugees.

A Manipur Home Department official said that the state government, in coordination with the Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) and central security forces, has so far deported 115 Myanmar nationals, including women and children, in three phases since March 8. The Myanmar immigrants have been deported through the Moreh border in Manipur's Tengnoupal district. Mizoram and Manipur have 518 km and 400 km of unfenced borders, respectively, with Myanmar.

The MHA earlier in 2022 asked both the Manipur and Mizoram governments to undertake the recording of biometric and biographic data of all the Myanmar refugees.

Though the BJP-led government in Manipur immediately started the process, the then Mizoram government, led by the Mizo National Front (MNF), refused, claiming that the Myanmarese are "brothers and sisters of Mizos and such an initiative would discriminate against them". After the Zoram People's Movement (ZPM) led by Lalduhoma came to power, defeating the MNF, in the November 7, 2023 Assembly elections, the new state government, after initial hesitation, in principle, agreed to start the process of collecting the data. The Manipur government was keen to repatriate the Myanmar refugees but the Mizoram government urged the Center to provide financial assistance to provide them relief and accord the "refugee" status to Myanmarese.

Manipur Chief Minister N. Biren Singh said that although India is not a signatory to the 1951 Refugee Convention, it has given shelter and aid to those fleeing the crisis in Myanmar on humanitarian grounds.

Why PM Modi's visit to Italy for G-7 left Cong grumbling? Has VVIP chopper scam come back to haunt it?

Prime Minister NarendraModi's recent trip to Italy for the G7 Summit was his first overseas trip in the third term and fifth consecutive visit to the Group of Seven nations.

His warm welcome in Italy, however, ruffled many feathers back home, particularly it left the Congress party 'rattled' as it kept questioning the purpose and rationale behind PM Modi's Italy trip. Sources suggest that Congress' grumbling could be because of its 'fears' of AgustaWestland scam (VVIP chopper scam) coming back to haunt it, especially at a time when it is basking in the glory of LokSabha 'success'. BJP IT cell chief AmitMalviya also questioned: "Why was the Congress constantly whining about PM Modi's visit to Italy for G7 Summit?" He also shared an account of details as to what is making the grand old party 'anxious and flustered'. A leading international daily citing sources claimed that Italy has shared their court's detailed judgement on the AgustaWestland chopper scam, running into 225 pages and also a trail of documents in the bribery scandal with India.

As it is evident, the damning documents may set the ball rolling and may see the high-profile politicians and middlemen in India nailed for their wrongdoing.

It also claimed that the investigations and prosecution in the VVIP chopper scam of Congress-led UPA era may pick up pace post PM Modi's return from his recent trip to Italy.

What will make matters worse for the Congress is the trail of classified documents that will 'fix' the culpability and also identify the leading faces from the political party who allegedly received kick-backs worth more than Rs 600 crore in the AgustaWestland VVIP chopper scam in 2013.

The chopper scam may not have reached conclusion in India but the Italian court did convict the bribe-givers to Indian counterparts. The sealed Italian documents, handed over to India, are also said to have names of those received kickbacks in the defence scam.

This is bound to ring alarm bells for those who were in power during the UPA-II regime and skeletons of one of the biggest defence scams, which remained buried for a decade, are set to come out of the closet.

Notably, Agusta Westland VVIP chopper scam is a corruption case of UPA-II regime in which bribes were paid to middlemen and perhaps to politicians also, as India inked a deal to buy 12 VVIP choppers by Italian defence manufacturing giant Finmeccanica, at an estimated cost of Rs 3,600 crore.

Depression around childbirth linked to future heart risk

London, June 21 (IANS/DPA) Women who are diagnosed with depression around the time they give birth appear to have a higher risk of heart problems in later life, according to a new study.

Those diagnosed with perinatal depression -- which includes postnatal depression and depression during pregnancy -- may be at higher risk of heart problems including high blood pressure; heart disease and heart failure for up to 20 years afterwards.

Swedish researchers said that the links between depression around childbirth and the long-term risk of cardiovascular disease are "largely unknown" as they published a study tracking women for more than a decade.

The study, published in the European Heart Journal, examined data on almost 56,000 women diagnosed with perinatal depression between 2001 and 2014.

Their information was matched to almost 546,000 who had babies during the same time period who were not diagnosed with perinatal depression.

The women were tracked an average of 10 years, with some monitored for up to 20 years after diagnosis.

Some 6.4 per cent of women with perinatal depression were diagnosed with cardiovascular disease during the follow-up, compared to 3.7 per cent of those who were not diagnosed with depression.

Researchers found that those diagnosed with perinatal depression had a 36 per cent increased risk of cardiovascular disease during the follow-up period.

Women diagnosed with depression before childbirth had a 29 per cent increased risk, while those diagnosed with postnatal depression had a 42 per cent higher odds of developing heart disease, they found.

The results were "most pronounced" in women who had not suffered depression before pregnancy, the authors said.

They said the elevated risk was found across all types of cardiovascular disease, drawing particular attention to the increased odds of women developing ischemic heart disease, heart failure and high blood pressure.

"Our findings may help identify people who are at a higher risk of cardiovascular disease so that steps can be taken to reduce this risk," said Dr Emma Brann, from the KarolinskaInstitutet, Stockholm.

"We know that perinatal depression is both preventable and treatable, and for many people it's the first episode of depression they've ever experienced," Brann said.

"Our findings provide more reason for ensuring maternal care is holistic, with equal attention on both physical and mental health. It remains unclear how and through what pathways perinatal depression leads to cardiovascular disease.

"We need to do more research to understand this so that we can find the best ways to prevent depression and lower the risk of CVD."

Academics also analysed data on sisters, where available, and found that the increased risk of developing CVD remained in the sister who experienced perinatal depression compared with her sister who had not experienced it.

Women who suffered perinatal depression had a 20 per cent higher risk of heart disease compared to their sisters.

"The slightly lower difference in risk between sisters suggests that there could be genetic or familial factors partly involved," Dr Brann said.

"There could also be other factors involved, as is the case for the link between other forms of depression and CVD. These include alterations in the immune system, oxidative stress and lifestyle changes implicated in major depression," Dr Brann concluded.

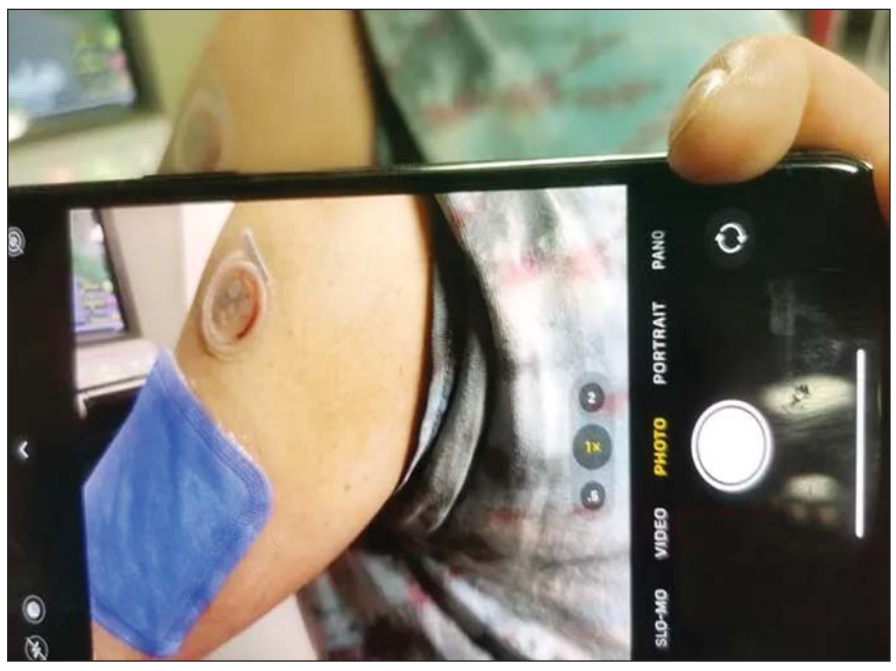

Researchers develop wearable device that measures levels of disease markers via 'sweat'

San Francisco, June 21 (IANS) Researchers have developed a wearable health monitor that measures levels of important biochemicals in sweat during physical exercise, a new study said on Thursday.

According to the study published in the journal ACS Sensors, the 3D-printed monitor could someday provide a simple and non-invasive way to track health conditions and diagnose common diseases, such as diabetes, gout, kidney disease, or heart disease.

The researchers were able to accurately monitor the levels of volunteers' glucose, lactate, uric acid, and the rate of their sweating during exercise, the study mentioned.

"I think 3D printing can make a difference to the healthcare fields, and I wanted to see if we can combine 3D printing with disease detection methods to create a device like this," said Chuchu Chen, a Washington State University (WSU) PhD student and first author on the paper. For their proof-of-concept health monitor, the researchers used 3D printing to make the health monitors in a unique, one-step manufacturing process.

They used a single-atom catalyst and enzymatic reactions to enhance the signal and measure low levels of the biomarkers.

Sweat contains many vital metabolites that can indicate health conditions, but, unlike blood sampling, it's non-invasive. Levels of uric acid in sweat can indicate the risk of developing gout, kidney disease, or heart disease. Glucose levels are used to monitor diabetes, and lactate levels can indicate exercise intensity, the researchers mentioned.

According to Kaiyan Qiu, Berry Assistant Professor in WSU's School of Mechanical and Materials Engineering, the health monitor is made of very tiny channels to measure the sweat rate and biomarkers' concentration.

As they are being fabricated via 3D printing, the micro-channels do not require any supporting structure, which can cause contamination problems as they are removed, he added.

When the researchers compared the monitors on volunteers' arms to lab results, they found that their monitor accurately and reliably measured the concentration of the chemicals as well as the sweating rate, the study mentioned.

Removal of ovaries before menopause linked with reduced white matter in brain

San Francisco, June 21 (IANS) Women who have their ovaries removed before menopause, particularly before the age of 40, have reduced white matter integrity in multiple regions of the brain later in life, a new study said on Thursday.

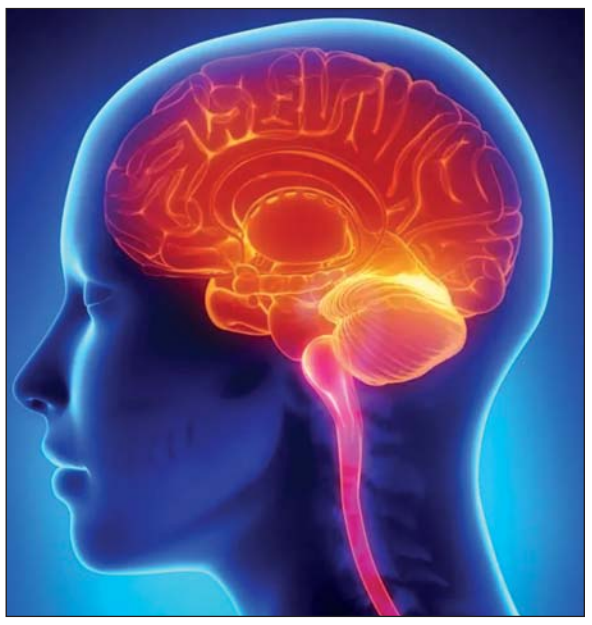

White matter refers to the nerve fibres that connect neurons in different areas of the brain.

In the study published in the journal Alzheimer's & Dementia, the researchers analysed data from the Mayo Clinic Study of Aging to identify women over the age of 50 with available diffusion tensor imaging, a magnetic resonance imaging (MRI) technique that measures white matter in the brain.

"We know that having both ovaries removed before natural menopause causes abrupt endocrine dysfunction, which increases the risk of cognitive impairment and dementia," said Michelle Mielke, PhD, professor at the US-based Wake Forest University School of Medicine. Researchers found that females who had premenopausal bilateral oophorectomy (PBO) before the age of 40 had significantly reduced white matter integrity in multiple regions of the brain.

"There were also trends in some brain regions such that women who had PBO between the ages of 40-44 or 45-49 years also had reduced white matter integrity, but many of these results were not statistically significant," said Mielke.

She also said that 80 per cent of participants who had their ovaries removed also had a history of estrogen replacement therapy.

Therefore, the study was not able to determine whether the use of estrogen replacement therapy after PBO mitigated the effects of PBO on white matter integrity.

"Having both ovaries removed results in an abrupt decrease in both estrogen and testosterone in women. Therefore, one possible explanation for our results is the loss of both estrogen and testosterone," Mielke mentioned.

Old video of Italy PM Giorgia Meloni goes viral days after G7 Summit

London, June 21 (IANS/DPA) The internet has been flooded with videos featuring Italian Prime Minister GiorgiaMeloni when she started her political journey. The clips are circulating just days after she welcomed Prime Minister NarendraModi at the G7 summit. A selfie and a video of PM Modi and MsMeloni on the sidelines of the G7 summit had also gone viral on social media.

MsMeloni started her political career in 1992, and the clips now circulating on X and other platforms show her holding meetings and addressing public rallies.

Many users are praising MsMeloni's appearance in the video, which they claim to be from the 1990s, describing her as "amazing" and "beautiful." One user even remarked that she looks like a "lady gangster" due to her confident demeanour and leather jacket, a reference to popular characters from Hollywood movies in those decades.

GiorgiaMeloni, Italy's first female Prime Minister since October 2022, leads the far-right Brothers of Italy party. Starting in the Youth Front at 15, she rose through politics to become Minister of Youth under Berlusconi. In her tenure, she has implemented conservative policies like strict immigration controls and pro-natal measures. Economically, she has pushed for tax cuts and deregulation and opposed EU austerity. MsMeloni has also given priority to NATO defence amidst global tensions.

Woman in New York ditches Uber and travels by helicopter instead, tweet has 4 million views

London, June 21 (IANS/DPA) An Indian-American woman is making headlines after she shared that she chose a helicopter ride over a conventional Uber trip to beat the New York City traffic. KhushiSuri, an employee at Kleiner Perkins, was planning to travel from Manhattan to John F. Kennedy International Airport in Queens. She had two options: an hour-long Uber ride and a 5-minute helicopter trip. Because the difference between the two transport choices was only $30, she decided to take the latter option as it significantly reduced her travel time.

She also posted a screenshot comparing the cost and time of taking an Uber versus flying on a Blade helicopter. While an Uber ride would cost her $131.99 (Rs 11,000) for an hour, the Blade helicopter ride for the same route costs $165 (approx ? 13,765) for 5 minutes.

"60 min Uber or 5 min helicopter ride - literally a $30 difference,'' she wrote along with screenshots of the prices and also tagged Blade Air Mobility.

Her tweet went viral, with more than 4 million views, with many people taking to the comments section to share their thoughts. One user wrote, "Is this real? I honestly just want to ride in a helicopter.'' Another commented, 'Yougotta go with the helicopter just for the vibes."

A few also criticised her. A fourth user said, "Regular citizens raking up helicopter CO2 emission just to go a few miles is sick!! humans have lost the plot."

A fifth added, "Important missing piece is that the blade doesn't pick you up or drop you off at your start and end point. You still need a full end-to-end solution and that's where the more cost efficient options like eVTOL (joby, archer) will integrate with Uber. Blade does a portion of the trip. Don't get me wrong, it's great but not apples to apples comparison you are making."

In the comments section, MsSuri also mentioned that she had messaged Blade founder Rob Wiesenthal on Instagram around five years ago and has been a fan of the company ever since. Blade Air Mobility, based in New York City, mainly uses helicopters for passenger routes and provides helicopter service between Manhattan and JFK.

SER to implement Kavach Safety System in Kolhan region

Jamshedpur, June 21: South Eastern Railway has finalized plans to install the Kavach rail safety equipment along railway lines and stations in the Kolhan region. Kavach, an Automatic Train Protection (ATP) system developed by the Research Design and Standards Organization (RSCO) in collaboration with Indian firms, aims to enhance railway safety following the Balasore train accident. The Kavach system includes Radio Frequency Identification (RFID) tags installed on tracks and station yards to identify trains and their directions. In the event of activation, all trains within a 5 km radius are automatically halted, ensuring safe passage for adjacent trains. Notably, the system features onboard displays for loco pilots to view signal aspects even during low visibility caused by adverse weather conditions, eliminating the need to rely solely on visual cues from train windows. Anil Kumar Mishra, General Manager of South Eastern Railway, affirmed that the survey work across Kolhan has been completed.

The upcoming installation, funded under the new budget, aims to prevent accidents by providing timely alerts to loco pilots about approaching red signals and applying automatic brakes if necessary. The initiative underscores South Eastern Railway's commitment to prioritizing safety enhancements across its network, reflecting a proactive approach to safeguarding railway operations in the region. Healthy BMI, no smoking effective ways to reduce risk of kidney cancer

New Delhi, June 21 (IANS) Maintaining a healthy body mass index (BMI) and refraining from smoking are two of the most effective ways to reduce the risk of kidney cancer, experts said on World Kidney Cancer Day on Thursday.

World Kidney Cancer Day is observed every year on June 20 to raise awareness about this disease. According to experts, several key risk factors have been identified in kidney cancer, such as smoking, obesity, high blood pressure, a family history of kidney cancer, and exposure to toxins found in some industrial settings.

"Being aware of these risk factors can empower individuals to make informed choices about their health and potentially reduce their risk of developing kidney cancer," Dr. C.N. Patil, HOD and Lead Consultant - Medical Oncology & Haemato-Oncology, Aster International Institute of Oncology, told IANS. As per data from the Indian Council of Medical Research (ICMR), kidney cancer is one of the top 10 cancers in India and accounts for about 2 to 3 per cent of all cancer cases. "Kidney cancer constitutes about 2 to 3 per cent of all cancers in our country, with around 15,000 new cases diagnosed annually. The incidence is notably higher in men than in women, with a male-to-female ratio of approximately 2:1," said Dr. Raghunath S.K., Senior Consultant and Director of Uro-oncology and Robotic Surgery, HCG Cancer Centre, Bengaluru.

Early-stage kidney cancer often presents no symptoms. However, experts suggested to be vigilant for warning signs like blood in urine, persistent back or flank pain, unexplained weight loss, and fatigue.

The experts highlighted that lifestyle changes play a crucial role in kidney cancer prevention.

"Regular exercise, a nutritious diet, and staying hydrated are essential practices for overall kidney health," said Dr. P.N. Gupta, Director and HOD - Nephrology and Kidney Transplant, Paras Health, Gurugram. "Adopting a diet rich in fruits, vegetables, and whole grains, coupled with regular physical activity, can significantly lower cancer risk. Additionally, avoiding tobacco in all forms is imperative, as smoking is a major risk factor for many types of cancer, including kidney cancer," he added.

Experts also mentioned that the outlook for kidney cancer patients has improved considerably due to advancements in treatment. The most common approach is surgery, which may involve removing the entire kidney or just the cancerous portion. Targeted therapies and immunotherapy have improved survival rates and quality of life for patients, they noted.

Jitendra Kumar, face of 'Kota Factory', recalls calling up his mother when he fell ill during IIT coaching

New Delhi, June 21 (IANS) An IIT Kharagpur alumnus Jitendra Kumar, who stars in the black-and-white series 'Kota Factory' has recalled the most magical moment from the shoot of the show, reminiscing how his mother visited him when he used to get sick, while he was studying in Kota, Rajasthan.

In 2013, Jitendra starred in 'Munna Jazbaati: The Q-tiya Intern'. He then went on to feature in shows like 'Permanent Roommates', 'TVF Pitchers', 'ImMature' and more.

His show 'Kota Factory' revolves around the life of students in Kota, and their efforts to get into an IIT by cracking the Joint Entrance Examination (JEE).

Being an IITian himself, if he felt any nostalgic moment throughout the shoot of the show, Jitendra, who also did coaching in Kota told IANS: "When I read the script, there are many moments that are happening with students. And the one thing that instantly clicked with me was when Vaibhav (played by Mayur More) gets sick, and his mother comes. There is a different bonding between a mother and a child. Even the teacher says don't gossip much with your mother. Don't spend too much time on that."

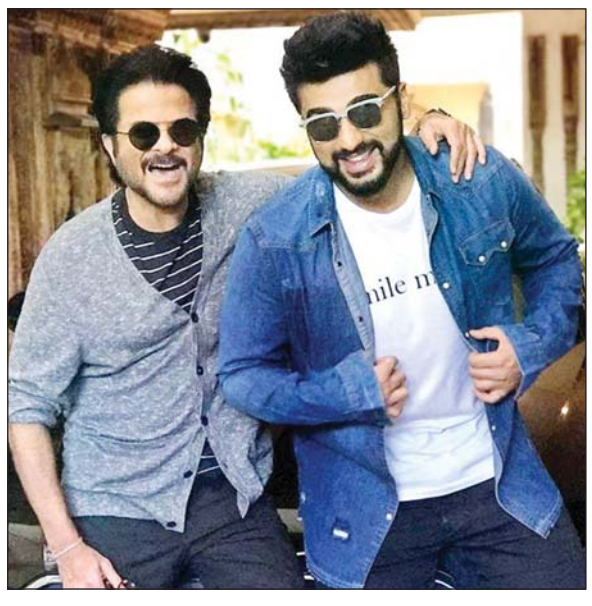

"So, exactly these things had happened to me. And I used to think that it happened to me only as a student. But every student does this, and there is something in the water of Kota, or in the food of the mess, that students get sick somehow. They can be saved only in one manner and that is by their mothers. And then everyone calls their mothers, and spends two months with them," shared Jitendra.

The 33-year-old actor said that phase comes in everybody's lives, and it was quite relatable.

"And it was also magical, because I used to think that I was the only boy who was facing this situation, that he was sick and calling his mother, and I was gossiping with my mother all night. I thought I had only done this, but when I asked the writer, he said 'no, no it happens with everyone'. So that was the most magical moment in the script," said the 'Panchayat' fame actor. With hit projects in his kitty, Jitendra is the OTT star right now. How does he feel about it?

Jitendra added: "It feels good. I think OTT has given a lot to the storytellers, given a lot to explore and experiment. And I also come in them only.

Anil, who is for the first time stepping into the shoes of a host for a digital version of the controversial reality show "Bigg Boss", which was earlier presented by filmmaker Karan Johar and Bollywood superstar Salman Khan, will be seen shaking a leg on his numbers too.

The actor will be seen performing on the track "Kate Nahin Kat Te" from the 1987 film "Mr. India". The song, which was originally sung by Alisha Chinai and Kishore Kumar, was originally picturised on him and the late actress Sridevi, who passed away in an accidental drowning in 2018.

T20 WC: Cummins claims hat-trick as Australia beat Bangladesh in rain-hit match

North Sound (Antigua), June 21 (IANS) Fast bowler Pat Cummins etched his name in the record books, becoming just the second Australian to claim a hat-trick in T20 World Cup match during his team's victory over Bangladesh in the Super 8 clash on Friday (according to IST) at the Sir Vivian Richards Stadium.

The Australian pacer reached a milestone by claiming three wickets across two separate overs. He took two wickets on the final two deliveries of his third over and then achieved the feat on the first ball of his last over, dismissing TowhidHridoy, who was caught at short fine leg.

Cummins has now joined Brett Lee as Australian bowlers who have taken a hat-trick at a Men's T20 World Cup. Lee achieved this feat against Bangladesh in the 2007 edition.

Overall, the Aussie joined an illustrious group of just seven players to have taken a hat-trick at a Men's T20 World Cup, with Lee (2007), Curtis Campher (Ireland, 2021), WaninduHasaranga (Sri Lanka, 2021), KagisoRabada (South Africa, 2021), KarthikMeiyappan (UAE, 2022) and Josh Little (Ireland, 2022) the other bowlers to have done so previously.

The 31-year-old finished his spell with figures of 3-29 as Australia restricted Bangladesh to 140/8 after inviting them to bat first. In response, openers David Warner (53 not out) and Travis head (31) were all guns blazing in the run chase.

However, the game didn't reach a proper conclusion due to rain. The Aussies secured a first Super Eight win, finishing 28 runs ahead of the par score via the Duckworth-Lewis-Stern Method.

Batting first, Bangladesh suffered an early blow as Mitchell Starc bowled TanzinHasan with the third delivery of the innings. In doing so, Starc moved past Sri Lanka's LasithMalinga into outright first for wickets in Men's World Cups - both ODI and T20Is, ICC reports.

Apart from the initial blow, Bangladesh dominated the early exchanges. While the Australians maintained a tight grip, Liton Das and captainNajmulHossainShanto's 58-run partnership rejuvenated the innings, propelling Bangladesh to a competitive position.

The partnership finally ended when Adam Zampa spun one through Das in the ninth over. Things for difficult for the Asian outfit with RishadHossain giving away his wicket on the final ball before drinks, placing Bangladesh at 67/3.

Zampa then made the next breakthrough by dismissing Shanto (41 off 36) at the end of the 13th over, putting significant pressure on the Bangladesh middle order. TowhidHridoy (40 off 28) made a valiant effort to accelerate, helping his side reach three figures by the 16th over.

Pat Cummins collected two quick scalps to end Australia's 18th over and then removed Hridoy upon return to start over 20, completing the tournament's first hat-trick, as Bangladesh were restricted to 140/8.

In the chase of 141, Warner and Head began aggressively, attacking the Bangladesh bowling lineup with a ruthless mindset. They quickly accumulated runs, consistently finding the boundary and reaching the 50-run mark by the sixth over. A maximum from Warner took powerplay score to 60/0.

Play then stopped, as another shower arrived, with the Aussies in control. Following a minor delay, Bangladesh struck quickly, removing Head. Then Mitchell Marsh was dismissed quickly, handing Bangladesh some much-needed momentum.

But Glenn Maxwell instantly flipped the script, turning it on with Warner to push the Aussies past 100, right as another dose of rain arrived. This shower proved more thorough than the others, with play eventually abandoned Australia secured the win via the DLS Method after finishing 28 runs ahead of par.

Brief scores: Bangladesh 140/8 in 20 overs (NajmulShanto 41, TowhidHridoy 40; Pat Cummins 3-29, Adam Zampa 2-24) lost to Australia 100/2 in 11.2 overs (David Warner 53 not out, Travis Head 31) by 28 runs (via DLS)

T20 WC: Pressure building on top-order and Dube as India take on Bangladesh

North Sound (Antigua), June 21 (IANS): The ever-present tension of their over a decade-long big-stage rivalry would make for an engrossing sub-plot when an undefeated India takes on a faltering Bangladesh, both teams desperately hoping for their batting stars to strike form in the Super Eights clash of the T20 World Cup here on Saturday.

The overall head-to-head record is overwhelmingly in India's favour but Bangladesh have been known to be plucky and Rohit Sharma and his men would be wary of that. The two South Asian neighbours have also been locked in some off-field drama in the past with Bangladesh often expressing its misgivings with India's financial might in the sport. At the ongoing World Cup though, there is no doubt that India are as mighty a cricketing power to be a serious title contender. The Men in Blue produced a professional performance against Afghanistan in their opening Super Eight's match.

With only a travel day separating their remaining two games, they would be hoping that the players, who have not performed as per expectations so far, deliver the goods.

Stimac labels AIFF chief Kalyan Chaubey a liar, says 'sooner he leaves, Indian football stands a chance'

New Delhi, June 21 (IANS) Sacked by the All-India Football Federation (AIFF) following a disastrous World Cup Qualification bid, India head coach Igor Stimac has dropped many bombshells in his final address to Indian media. The Croatian coach slammed the current president of the AIFF, KalyanChaubey, and labeled him a 'liar'.

"Kalyan, you are the one lying not me. Sooner he leaves, Indian football stands a chance. Indian football needs someone powerful and influential. The only time Kalyan is powerful is when he walks with armed guards in Kolkata. Apart from that no one knows him," said Stimac in a press conference.

This is the latest development in the ongoing war of words between the AIFF and Stimac after he was sacked following India's exit in the second round of the FIFA World Cup 2026 Qualifiers. It will be interesting to see how the AIFF and its President KalyanChaubey respond to these latest allegations.

"Me and Kalyan never had a relationship, it was obvious. I reported to the secretary general. The president doesn't indulge in these things. When Kalyan came and was elected president, our first meeting at the Hyatt lasted for three minutes in which he looked at his watch five times," said Stimac.

ShajiPrabhakaran was recently criticised as he was in power when Stimac renewed his contract till 2026. Stimac was questioned on Shaji's sacking and whether the move was good for Indian football. "The sacking of Shaji can't be good, if you start a process and start working together and before even a year you have a fight. It is wrong and shows negatively," added the 56-year-old.

All footballing decisions which include the coach's appointment and contract are handled by the technical committee of the AIFF which is led by chairman and football legend I.M. Vijayan.

The Croatian took time to express his feelings for the former player. "IM Vijayan is a great footballer and legend in Indian football but not the right person to be chairman of a Technical Committee," he concluded.

'Even the best of preparation can fail...':Mirabai Chanu on injury management ahead of Paris 2024

New Delhi, June 21 (IANS) Tokyo Olympics silver medallist weightlifter MirabaiChanu has said success at Paris Olympics will depend on how well she manages to keep herself injury free and improve technical nitty-gritties as "competition in the 49 kg division is going to be very tough this time."

Chanu, the only Indian weightlifter to qualify for Paris 2024, is a medal away from becoming the first Indian weightlifter to win two Olympic medals.

Speaking with SAI Media at the NetajiSubhas National Institute of Sports at Patiala, Mirabai said the period between now and August 7, the day when the weightlifting competition will start in Paris, will be dedicated to "managing all the muscles in my body" and "improving technique to lift at least 90 kg in snatch."

Her personal best in snatch is 88 kgs, an effort that helped her win the 2022 Commonwealth Games gold in Birmingham with a combined lift of 201 kg that included a 113 kg in clean and jerk. Paris 2024 will be Mirabai's third Olympics. After a horror debut at Rio 2016, the Manipuri, pushing 30, made impressive comebacks with sterling shows at global competitions.

Mirabai became the first lifter in 22 years to become a world champion in 2017. The gold at Commonwealth Games in 2018 in Gold Coast followed. After narrowly missing a medal at the 2019 world championship, Mirabai created history at the 2020 Asian championships in China. In clean and jerk, Mirabai lifted 119 kgs at Ningbo, China. It was a world record!

Injuries have been Mirabai's constant partner. Post the historic silver medal at the Tokyo Olympics, she has been afflicted by numerous injuries. The hip injury at the Hangzhou Asian Games sidelined Mirabai for five months. Managing injuries with her trusted American physioDr Aaron Horschig and coach Vijay Sharma, has been her biggest challenge. With Paris 2024 on the anvil, Mirabai has been very choosy about her competitions this year.

T20 WC: India fortunate to have Bumrah in playing 11, says Manjrekar

New Delhi, June 21 (IANS) Former India cricketer Sanjay Manjrekar lauded pacer JaspritBumrah after his 3-7 match-setting spell against Afghanistan in the T20 World Cup Super Eight match in Barbados on Thursday.

India defeated Afghanistan by 47 runs to start their Super Eight campaign on high. Manjrekar highlighted the importance of Bumrah and said the Rohit Sharma-led side is fortunate to have him in playing 11.

After setting a target of 182 to win at the back of SuryakumarYadav's blistering half-century, Bumrah and Arshdeep Singh picked three scalps each while KuldeepYadav grabbed two dismissals to bowl out Afghanistan for 134 in 20 overs.

"JaspritBumrah is performing in USA and West Indies just like Sunil Narine at Eden Gardens during the IPL. There were many matches when he had not conceded the boundary and look at the difference between him and the couple of other seamers. They were also international standard, but quite rightly I mean, he's looking even better and when you look at all the top-class bowlers around the world. There's a big margin between them and Bumrah and India is so fortunate to have him in your playing 11," Manjrekar said on ESPNCricinfo TIMEOUT show.

Former India spinner Anil Kumble also mentioned the fact that Bumrah has a plan for each batter and he uses his bowling variations very smartly.

"The kind of understanding of his own bowling you can make out, even when he got RahmanullahGurbaz out on a slower ball and wide line. He gets the execution perfect. You know, that's what it is. It's about yes the variations every bowler has variations. But executing all those variations under pressure getting the line right getting the length, right?

T20 WC: Rohit credits Suryakumar-Hardik 'critical partnership' for win over Afghanistan

Bridgetown (Barbados), June 21 (IANS) India captain Rohit Sharma credited a 60-run partnership between SuryakumarYadav and Hardik Pandya after registering a 47-run win over Afghanistan in the Super Eight clash at T20 World Cup on Thursday.

The duo joined forces in the middle in the 11th over and stitched a crucial fifth-wicket partnership to take the side to the 150-run mark. Suryakumar smashed 53 off 28 balls studded with three sixes and five fours while HardikPandya scored 32 as India posted 181/8 in 20 overs. "I think everyone coming in there and doing their job is critical for us and that is something we dwell on. So that is something we keep talking about how each one, if they can play their role, we can set up a good platform for ourselves. Surya Kumar Yadav and HardikPandya's partnership was very critical for us at that point in time because we kept losing wickets there. So we needed somebody to bat little deep. Surya Kumar Yadav did that along with HardikPandya and it was a great partnership in the end," Rohit said after the match.

Chasing 182, JaspritBumrah and Arshdeep Singh scalped three wickets each to bundle out Afghanistan for 134 in 20 overs. Bumrah returned with the figures of 3-7 in his four overs and claimed important wickets of RahmanullahGurbaz (11), HazratullahZazai (2) and NajibullahZadran (19). Rohit said Bumrah understands his role well and is always ready to take up the challenge. "We know his class. We know what he can do for us and it's important for us as well that we use him smartly. We use him smartly and he is the one who is ready to take that responsibility as well because it's not easy for a strike bowler to keep holding him on.

"But JaspritBumrah being JaspritBumrah, he has been doing that for years. Wherever he plays, he understands that this is what the team expects from him and he is always ready for that responsibility," he said.

India added KuldeepYadav to their playing 11 to bolster their spin attack but the move didn't pay much dividend to the side as the left-arm spinner conceded runs at an economy of 8 despite picking up two scalps. Rohit also acknowledged the fact and said they would make changes according to the conditions.

"Nothing as such. I've got to assess the condition and see what is right and wrong - look at the opposition composition as well, what they play and how they play as well. So based on that, we are open to making any changes if required. At the moment we felt that 3 spinners is a good option here and we went with that. If the game in the next venues offers something for the seamers, we will be open for that as well," Rohit said.
